About the Awards

The A&D Trophy Awards (previously The Perspective Awards) were created in 2004 to celebrate excellence in architecture, interior design and product design across Asia-Pacific and beyond, with a panel of expert local and international judges ensuring that only genuinely exceptional work is rewarded.

Whether you're an architect, interior designer or product designer – or aspiring to join their ranks – you're only as good as your latest project. If you are recognised with a win, it will be with the knowledge that your work is truly outstanding in an exceedingly tough competition.

There are three levels of A&D Trophy Awards prizes: Certificate of Excellence, Best of Category and Best of the Best. Additionally, the Pinnacle Award is a discretionary accolade given by Perspective's board of directors and editorial team to either an individual or a firm who has demonstrated consistent high standards, innovation, original thought and all-round excellence in their field. Other factors, such as involvement in the community and peer recognition, are also considered.

International, regional and local architecture and design companies are invited to participate. The competition is open to:

- Asia-Pacific architecture and interior design projects completed between 1 January 2016 and 30 June 2018.
- International architecture and interior design projects completed between 1 January 2016 and 30 June 2018, for entry into the International Architecture and International Interior Design categories.
- Products that are available for sale including through online platforms in the Asia Pacific region.
- Products that are not available in Asia Pacific, for entry into the International Product Design category.

In the Students Categories, projects related to architecture, interior design and product design can be submitted.

Student Categories

The A&D Trophy Awards offer an interactive platform to Hong Kong architecture, interior design and product design students. Through face-to-face interviews with a panel of professional judges, finalists will have the chance to grow their architecture and design knowledge. The ultimate objective is to equip local students with the experience they will need when starting their careers.

The categories are open to full-time and part-time students in Hong Kong who are not in paid employment as a designer. Entrants may submit projects that were devised as part of the required coursework at their place of learning.

- ⊃ Best Architecture
- ⊃ Best Interior Design
- ⊃ Best Product Design

The Judging Process & Criteria

Professional Categories

- ⇒ The total score is 30. A minimum score is required for a Certificate of Excellence. The Certificate of Excellence winner with the highest score in each category will be considered for the Best of Category award.
- ⇒ The highest-scoring winners in Professional Architecture, Professional Interior Design, Professional Product Design and Student will be considered for the Best of the Best trophies.
- ⇒ To ensure the entries are competing to set of standard of excellence instead of just competing among themselves, a minimum score is required to qualify for every award.
- ⇒ Scoring will be based on the following:
 1. Main objectives of the client's brief and description of design solution (10 points)
 2. Description of key elements of design, materials used and how they contributed to the success of the design (20 points)
- ⇒ The judging process will take place online via the confidential A&D Trophy Awards platform. Judges will have three weeks to review the entries, applying a predetermined scoring system to allocate points to specific entries. An average score will be calculated from the scores given by the judges.

Student Categories

- ⇒ Shortlisted entrants will be invited to deliver a 10-minute presentation, followed by a 10-minute question-and-answer session, before the panel of judges, who will apply a predetermined scoring system to allocate points to each entry. An average score will be calculated from the scores given by the judges.
- ⇒ Scoring will be based on the following:
 1. Functionality of overall design (10 points)
 2. Originality and creativity (10 points)
 3. Effectiveness of overall project presentation – how well has the entrant conveyed his/her design concept? (10 points)
- ⇒ The student judging session will take place in August in Hong Kong.
